WHY MAKE THIS GUIDE?
UNC Charlotte, in compliance with the Clery Act, including amendments by the Violence Against Women Reauthorization Act of 2013, has prepared the information in this guide for victims of dating violence, domestic violence, sexual assault, and stalking.

UNC Charlotte want you to have access to as much information as possible, so that you understand your options and available resources, and can make informed choices.

WHAT ARE WE TALKING ABOUT?
Interpersonal Violence is a broad term that includes experiences of dating violence, domestic violence, sexual assault, and stalking.

Dating violence and domestic violence:
Dating violence and domestic violence are physical or sexual abuse perpetrated by one member of a romantic, intimate partnership against the other partner. Household members or former spouses or intimate partners can also perpetrate dating or domestic violence.

Sexual assault:
Sexual assault is sexual intercourse, oral sex, groping, or other sexual contact without the consent of one of the parties.

Stalking:
Stalking is two or more acts directed at a specific person that would cause a reasonable person to (a) fear for their safety or the safety of others or (b) suffer substantial emotional distress.

Confidentiality and Reporting

CONFIDENTIAL RESOURCES: If a student wants to discuss an experience of sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, or stalking with someone on campus who does not have a responsibility to report the incident to the Title IX Office, they may access any of the following services: Center for Counseling and Psychological Services, Student Health Center, Center for Wellness Promotion (see above for details).

REPORTING: Disclosure of any incident of sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, or stalking to many members of the campus community may require the incident to be reported to the Title IX Coordinator. The Title IX Office will work with the reporting student to discuss what resources are available as well as discuss possible investigation options, if applicable.

REQUESTING CONFIDENTIALITY: If a student talks to a non-confidential resource (e.g., faculty, staff, resident advisors, academic advisors), yet wishes to have the incident remain private, the student can request privacy from Title IX Office. In many cases, the Title IX Office is able to honor a request for privacy. However, several factors must be weighed in this decision to ensure the university is meeting its obligation to provide a safe environment for the entire campus community.

For more information about factors that influence this decision, see University Policy 406, Chapter B, Section VI(2) of the Code of Student Responsibility at legal.uncc.edu/policies/up-406.

PROTECTING CONFIDENTIALITY IN PUBLIC RECORDS: Identifying information about the incident and the students involved is considered to be part of the student’s “education record” under FERPA. Limited information about the Respondent may be publicly disclosable if they are found responsible for certain violations through the student conduct process. Documentation about the these types of incidents is generally protected from public disclosure (see University Policy 402, Student Education Records (FERPA) at legal.uncc.edu/policies/up-402). If sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, or stalking is reported to have happened on campus, the university is required to include that statistic in an annual public disclosure called the Clery Report.
On-Campus and Confidential

The following confidential resources are always available for students. However it is important to note that if you elect to only use these resources the University has limited ability to fully respond. At any point, a student can also elect to use the services and resources available through the Title IX Office and Police and Public Safety.

IMPORTANT: Confidential means that a formal report will not be made to the Title IX Office or Police.

Explanation of On-Campus Confidential Resources

Contact with these offices is completely confidential and available to any enrolled student.

Counseling and Psychological Services (CAPS)

CAPS is a confidential resource for students seeking support for managing the impact of Interpersonal Violence. Students can meet with counselors to discuss their need for campus resources and accommodations and to process their experiences and reactions. CAPS services include individual and group therapy for survivors of relationship trauma, referrals to campus and community resources, and discussion about options for engaging other campus offices including Police and Public Safety and Title IX Offices.
Off-Campus

Utilizing these or other off-campus resources does not limit a student's ability to also use on-campus resources. There may be costs associated with utilization of these off-campus resources.

Safe Alliance
Safe Alliance provides hope and healing to those impacted by domestic violence and sexual assault through a variety of programs and services and can accompany survivors through hospital procedures.

The Center for Wellness Promotion (CWP)
The CWP, through the Interpersonal Violence Prevention (IPV) Specialist, seeks to empower the UNC Charlotte community to prevent sexual and interpersonal violence through campus-wide proactive education initiatives. Students can utilize this resource to request educational presentations and trainings. Additionally, the IPV Specialist is available for consultation after disclosing incidents of interpersonal violence for referrals to appropriate campus and community resources.

The Student Health Center (SHC)
The SHC seeks to promote healthy students by providing healthcare, education, and outreach services. Students can access this service for STI/HIV testing, laboratory and pharmacy services, and physical health exams.
The University, through the Title IX Office, seeks to provide a safe and efficient environment where every student is comfortable reporting an incident of sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, or stalking. We encourage students to report so that we can make the University a safer environment by recognizing problematic behavior, and to connect students to the maximum number of resources possible.

The University can assist students by providing a number of various accommodations. These can include anything from academic accommodations to assistance with referrals to various resources both on and off campus. Any time the University receives a Title IX report, the Title IX Case Manager will initiate outreach via email. Students who elect not to engage with the Title IX Case Manager, or decide they do not wish to receive resources or support upon initial outreach, may always elect to do so at a later time. Meeting with the Title IX Case Manager is not mandatory, and students may always decline services.

There are many reasons why an individual may choose not to engage with the Title IX Office. If that is the case, the University encourages the student to still seek resources and support from either on-campus confidential resources or off-campus resources.

Accommodations

Once an incident has been reported, the Title IX Office will arrange for accommodations for the reporting student as needed. If an investigation is ultimately opened, or an accused student is otherwise notified of the allegations, the accused student may also receive these accommodations. Examples of accommodations could include adjustment of academic schedules, assistance with University employment, and transportation accommodations.

The Title IX Office will be responsible for contacting faculty, Housing and Residence Life, and any other relevant parties to make these necessary accommodations. The Title IX Office can also coordinate arrangements with other University offices (e.g., Office of Disability Services, Office of International Programs, Student Assistance and Support Services) as necessary to address any disclosed disability, visa/immigration concerns, financial aid/tuition concerns, or other related topics.
The University must comply with a student’s reasonable request for a living, academic, transportation, or University employment changes.

At any point, the Title IX Coordinator may implement support or education initiatives, including, but not limited to:

- Targeted or broad-based education
- No Trespass Orders
- No Contact Orders
- Increased monitoring, supervision, or security at necessary locations
- Changes or clarifications to policies or practices

The Title IX Office will separately also assist the reporting student and the accused student in connecting with both on-campus and off-campus resources, including counseling, health, mental health, victim advocacy, legal assistance, and other services, if requested.

The provision of accommodations, protective measures, and other interim remedies will be kept private except as needed to implement the accommodations or other measures. For example, in order to facilitate an academic accommodation (e.g., an extension on an assignment), the Title IX Office will need to contact instructors. The instructor will know that the student is involved with the Title IX Office, but additional details will not be disclosed about the incident. The Title IX Office decides which information is necessary to share in order to implement interim measures.

Reporting to the Title IX Office grants a student access to accommodations, but does not require that the student moves forward with the conduct process.

A reporting student may receive certain accommodations and other interim remedies regardless of whether they move forward with the student conduct process or report to law enforcement. Access to resources and accommodations are available to all students, even if the reported perpetrator is not a UNC Charlotte student.
Title IX Investigation

- Complainant wants to move forward with process
  - Conduct charges not pursued
    - Independent review (if desired by Complainant)
    - Support continues
  - Conduct charges pursued
    - Title IX Office assesses Complainant's desire not to move forward
    - Support continues
- Complainant does not want to move forward with process
  - Title IX Office does not pursue investigation
  - Support continues

Support continues

- Mutual resolution of conduct charges (agreed upon by all parties)
- Both parties may appeal
- Determination on findings
- Administrative hearing
- Notification of charges (if applicable)
The student conduct process provides a prompt, fair, and impartial investigation and resolution to complaint(s).

Sexual and Interpersonal Misconduct Process

Sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, and stalking are all prohibited conduct under University Policy 406, Code of Student Responsibility ("Code"), available at legal.uncc.edu/policies/up-406. Other sexual misconduct, including sexual harassment, gender-based harassment, sexual exploitation, and sexual exhibitionism without consent, is also prohibited by the Code. This means that if a student wishes, they can request a formal investigation into the alleged behavior.

Once this happens, students who are accused of violating the Code are called "Respondents" and students or employees who allegedly experienced the sexual misconduct, dating violence, domestic violence, or stalking are called "Complainants."

If a student chooses not to proceed with the conduct process, this decision will be discussed in consultation with the Title IX Coordinator in hopes of honoring this request. The University still has an obligation to respond to the alleged misconduct and to remedy its effects.

TIMELINE

When a report is received, the University will respond in a prompt manner. The Title IX Office, in consultation with the Director of Student Conduct, will determine whether any interim protective measures, including but not limited to campus no-contact orders, are necessary. The Director of Student Conduct decides whether to impose interim suspension pursuant to the Code.

The University strives to resolve sexual misconduct, dating violence, domestic violence, and stalking cases within 60 days (as defined by the Code) of the report, excluding appeals.

In the University’s experience, circumstances (including but not limited to parallel criminal investigations, multiple witnesses with scheduling difficulties, and availability of parties and/or advocates) almost always exist that generally make this timeline take longer. Therefore, the typical process will likely take approximately 120 days.

Both the Respondent and the Complainant will be notified in writing if the process will take more than 120 days and of the reason for the delay.

PROCESS

Once the student conduct process is initiated, a trained staff member (called the Title IX Investigator) will talk with the Complainant and the Respondent separately in order to gather facts surrounding the incident. The staff member will also interview any witnesses who are identified by the parties and gather other physical and documentary evidence.

Throughout the process, the parties will never be required to face or interact with each other directly. The University officials involved in the process have received annual training on the conduct process and specialized training surrounding sexual misconduct, dating violence, domestic violence, and stalking cases. These officials include investigators, hearing officers, staff advisors, and appellate officers.
DISCLOSURES AND REPORTING

PROCEDURAL RIGHTS
Throughout the process, both the Complainant and the Respondent are entitled to the same rights and opportunities, including having an advisor, attorney, or non-attorney advocate present at any related meeting or decisions, providing evidence to support their side, reviewing the information on which a decision will be based, and appealing any hearing decisions.

The Complainant and the Respondent will be simultaneously notified, in writing, of:

• the outcome of the student conduct process
• the procedures for each party to appeal the results
• any change to the results prior to the finalization of the results
• when the results become final

HOW A DECISION IS MADE
A Respondent is responsible for a violation of the Code if the information shows that it is more likely than not that they committed the violation (also called “preponderance of the evidence”). If the Director of Student Conduct, Respondent, and Complainant all agree on appropriate findings and sanctions, the matter could be resolved without a hearing (also called a Mutual Resolution). In other cases, a trained hearing officer will determine the findings and make a recommendation on sanctions, which can be appealed.

UNIVERSITY POLICY 502
Sexual harassment policy and grievance procedures for and against University employees

The University is committed to ensuring an environment for all employees and students that is fair, humane, and respectful. Behaviors that inappropriately assert sexuality as relevant to employee or student performance will not be tolerated, as they are violations of both law and University policy. University Policy 502 provides the definition of sexual harassment and sets forth employee and student responsibilities for creating and maintaining an environment free of sexual harassment. University Policy 502 also includes detailed grievance procedures for filing complaints of sexual harassment. The full policy is available at legal.uncc.edu/policies/up-502.
POTENTIAL SANCTIONS
One or more of the following sanctions may be imposed on a student found responsible for a violation(s) of the Code.

1. CONDUCT REPRIMAND—Formal written reprimand indicating that the Respondent’s behavior was unacceptable and that if the Respondent is subsequently found responsible for a violation(s) of the Code, more severe sanctions could result.

2. CONDUCT PROBATION—A status in which the Respondent is deemed not to be in good conduct standing with the University for a definite or indefinite period of time.

3. DEFERRED CONDUCT SUSPENSION—A progressive sanction status in which the Respondent is deemed not to be in good conduct standing with the University for a definite or indefinite period of time.

4. CONDUCT SUSPENSION—Separation of the Respondent from the University for a definite or indefinite period of time. During the Conduct Suspension period, the Respondent is trespassed from the University and may not be present on University Premises; attend or participate in classes; access various University electronic systems, including, but not limited to, email services; or participate in Student Organizations or any University-sponsored program, activity, or related event.

5. EXPULSION—Permanent separation of the Respondent from the University. The Respondent is trespassed from the University and may not be present on University Premises; attend or participate in classes; access various University electronic systems, including, but not limited to, email services; or participate in Student Organizations or any University-sponsored program, activity, or related event.

6. REMOVAL FROM UNIVERSITY HOUSING—Loss of the privilege of living in University housing.

7. POST-ENROLLMENT AND POST-GRADUATION SANCTIONS—A Respondent who is found responsible for a violation(s) of the Code, but who graduates from the University before imposition of a sanction, is subject to (a) revocation of any degree awarded; (b) temporary or permanent withholding of the transcript for any degree earned, regardless of whether the degree has been awarded; and/or (c) having sanction(s) imposed as a condition of re-enrollment at the University.

8. ADDITIONAL SANCTIONS—The following sanctions may be imposed in addition to those listed in Chapter 10, Section 1.1-7 of the Code:
   • restitution for loss incurred by an individual or the University as a result of the Respondent’s violation(s);
   • exclusion and/or trespass from all or a portion of any University Premises or any University-sponsored program, activity, or related event, as specified in the sanction, for a definite or indefinite period of time;
   • an administrative no contact order with an individual(s);
   • loss of driving and/or parking privileges on University Premises;
   • a student conduct fee not to exceed $100;
   • community service and/or participation in educational programs;
   • restitution for expenses incurred by individuals or the University as a result of providing educational programs or other educational experiences related to the violation(s);
   • parental/guardian notification, pursuant to Section II.B.11 of University Policy 402, Student Education Records (FERPA); or
   • any other appropriate sanction as determined by the Director of Student Conduct or designee.

For a comprehensive explanation of the student conduct process, additional definitions, or sanctions, review Chapter 8 of the Code (legal.uncc.edu/policies/up-406#ch8).
If a student has recently become a victim of sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, or stalking, law enforcement recommends that the person take the following steps to preserve evidence.

Preservation of Evidence

A victim of a sexual assault should not take a shower following the assault. Instead, the victim should seek medical help within 72 hours of the sexual assault so that any physical evidence can be preserved for use at a later date should that be necessary.

A friend or family member can drive the victim to the hospital, or the victim can contact UNC Charlotte PPS for a ride to the hospital. Victims should be aware that their ability to keep certain information confidential will be limited if they contact UNC Charlotte PPS. A formal report will also be submitted to the Title IX Office.

The University encourages victims to go to the emergency room of any of the local hospitals, including Carolinas HealthCare System University, Carolinas HealthCare System Northeast, or Novant Health Presbyterian Medical Center, and request a specially trained Sexual Assault Nurse Examiner (SANE) who will conduct a forensic examination and collect physical evidence. Completing an examination does not mean that you have to file a police report; it simply preserves evidence if you decide you want to use it later.

More details about the components of a sexual assault forensic exam can be found here: https://bit.ly/2dPVLTd

In all cases of dating violence, domestic violence, sexual assault, or stalking, victims are encouraged to preserve other evidence including, but not limited to, handwritten or electronic communications such as text messages, telephone messages and emails, videos and/ or photographs of the incident or bruises/markings. Preserving physical and documentary evidence may be helpful in obtaining a protective order or proving that an incident occurred in a criminal case or conduct process.

Request a specially trained Sexual Assault Nurse Examiner at any hospital emergency room:

Contacting Police

A victim of sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, or stalking has various options regarding contacting law enforcement:

1. You can choose not to notify law enforcement

2. You can notify law enforcement authorities including:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Charlotte-Mecklenburg Police Department</th>
<th>UNC Charlotte Police and Public Safety</th>
<th>Other law enforcement that has jurisdiction over the incident</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>EMERGENCY: 911</td>

3. You can get assistance in notifying the appropriate law enforcement authorities by contacting any of the resources listed on pages 2 and 3.
Orders of Protection

UNC CHARLOTTE NO CONTACT ORDERS
The Title IX Office (for students) or Human Resources (for faculty or staff) can help facilitate an on-campus no-contact order for members of the University community if both parties are affiliated with the University. A No Contact Order is a University order that encompasses all forms of contact and communication, including but not limited to, direct (face-to-face), telephone, written, and electronic forms of communication and social media.

PROTECTIVE ORDERS
Information regarding protective orders that are effective throughout Mecklenburg County, including on the UNC Charlotte campus, is summarized below. Information is also available at charlottenc.gov/CMPD/Organization/Documents/InvestSvcs/DV_RsrcGuide2015.pdf.

The UNC Charlotte Police and Public Safety will honor all Domestic Violence Protective Orders (DVPO) and Civil No Contact Orders (CNCO) that are brought to its attention whether issued in North Carolina or any other state. When a victim obtains a DVPO or CNCO, it should be presented to the UNC Charlotte Police and Public Safety to be kept on file, and the victim should keep a valid copy of the order to be presented upon request.

QUALIFICATIONS FOR A CIVIL NO CONTACT ORDER (CNCO) (MECKLENBURG COUNTY 50C)

- Must be a resident of Mecklenburg County, NC.
- Must have a valid address for the person you are seeking the order against.
- Has had an unlawful act committed against them by another person not involved in a personal relationship as defined in the qualifications for a DVPO (50B)

Anyone who is seeking an Order of Protection due to an incident of Interpersonal Violence that occurred within a same sex relationship should seek a Civil No Contact Order (CNCO-50C). The current qualifications for a Domestic Violence Protective Order (DVPO-50B) do not offer protection for individuals within a same sex relationship.
Qualifications for a Domestic Violence Protective Order (DVPO) (50B)

☑️ Plaintiff or defendant must be a resident of Mecklenburg County, NC.

☑️ Must have a valid address for the person you are seeking the order against.

☑️ Must have one of the following relationships with the defendant:
  - Married or Divorced
  - Persons of the opposite sex who are not married but live together or have lived together in the past
  - Parent and child or grandparent and grandchild (must be at least 16 years old)
  - Have a child in common
  - Current or former household members
  - Persons of the opposite sex who are in or have been in a dating relationship

☑️ The person you are seeking protection from must have committed one of the following acts; it is the victim’s responsibility to prove that the act occurred:
  - Caused or attempted to cause bodily injury
  - Placed you or a member of your household in fear of immediate physical danger
  - Continued to harass you to the point where you are suffering from emotional distress
  - Committed one or more sexual offenses against you
This plan is a tool to help you identify members of your support network who can assist you as you navigate the difficulties that are often present following an incident of Interpersonal Violence. While not required, it is recommended you complete this guide with a trusted resource on or off campus to ensure your plan is as complete as possible.
